DIAZ WILL LEAVE MEXICO THURSDAY FOREVER, IT IS SAID

Will Sail From Vera Cruz—Greater Part of Wealth Belongs to His Wife—Incidents of Signing of Peace Treaty Sunday Night in Juarez.

Special to Telegram.

Mexico City, May 22.—It is stated that President Diaz will leave Mexico Thursday forever. It is reported that he will sail from Vera Cruz on the Espana with his wife and son, Col. Diaz, and family and will establish a home in Paris. His wealth is estimated at one-fourth of a million dollars, but it is said that his wife is worth two and one-half million dollars.

Juarez, Mexico, May 22.—Undisguised [illegible] beamed in the face of Judge Carbajal of the Federal peace envoy today, as he prepared to depart for Mexico City, his mission here being accomplished after nearly four weeks of parleys. Francisco I. Madero, J., triumphant leader of the revolt, will await the resignation of President Diaz, starting for Mexico City within a week, when it is expected to become an established fact.

Senor Madero this morning heard the story of how the peace agreement was signed last night. His callers told and retold the humorous sidelight that was thrown on the signing of the document.

Francisco Madero, Sr., had called on Judge Carbajal at El Paso about 9:30 o'clock last night and after a tedious half hour's wait for Senor Pino Suarez, the party started for Juarez in a big automobile, think Senor Suarez previous had gone to the customs house here.

When the peace automobile, followed by three machines filled with newspaper men, dashed up to the customs house shortly after ten o'clock, neither Senor Suarez nor any one else was there to receive them. The customs house door was barred by a huge grating.

Senor Suarez failed to appear and after a brief conference it was decided, as the document already had been drafted, to sign the pact on the steps of the building, agreeing to allow Senor Suarez to sign it today. There, under the stars, typewritten copies of the peace agreement were signed and exchanged while four automobiles on the opposite side of the street turned their glaring searchlights on the customs house steps. The newspaper men contributed their hard pads and some matches and huddled together to keep the matches from being extinguished by the evening breeze.

It was Francisco Madero, Sr.'s, fountain pen that was used. In watching the commissioners slowly sign their names under the agreement, one of the bystanders, forgot the burning match he held. He nearly spoiled one of the signatures when he dropped the flame as the pact was being signed. The commissioners enjoyed the humor of the situation and decided that never was a peace treaty signed under more extraordinary conditions. When it was all over, they embraced in true Spanish fashion.

Though the peacement agreement provides for the gradual dispersing of the troops, it is not believed any counter revolts or disturbances will occur. The object of the gradual disbanding of the insurrectos, it is expected, is to remain for a short time as a good fighting force by which to keep order among the small scattered bands who might feel inclined to disregard the peace agreement.

Trouble is expected with the rebels in lower California. Though the rebels there have never been allied with the Madero movement, the rebel chiefs here will send envoys or messages to lower California, uriging the acceptance of the conditions agreed upon here. Should they refuse, an armed expedition probably led by Pascual Orozco, will be sent to subdue them.

Woman Shot by Daughter's Beau.

Special to Telegram.

Knoxville, Tenn., May 22.—A young man named Newton, who was calling on the daughter of Mrs. Bettie Baldwin of this city, was stoned by the seven year old brother of the young lady. Newton remonstrated with the boy and finally slapped him, and the boy told his mother of the occurrence. When Newton returned to the house, after a walk with the girl, Mrs. Baldwin met him at the door with a pistol. Newton drew his own gun and shot the woman three times.

REPUBLICANS ARE DEMORALIZED SAYS MAJ. C. M. STEDMAN

Congressman From Fifth District Predicts Easy Victory For Democrats in 1912—Says Republicans In Washington Know This Fact And Are Not Caring What is Done

Congressman Charles M. Stedman, who came home to participate in the celebration of Mrs. Stedman's birthday Saturday, returned to Washington last night. Major Stedman was seen yesterday afternoon by a Telegram reporter and asked for his opinion regarding the outlook for a Democratic victory in 1912, as seen from the corridors and halls in the House of Representatives.

"There is every indication," said Major Stedman, "that the Democrats will elect a president in 1912 more easily than any president has been elected in years. The entire strength of the Republican forces in Washington is demoralized. They seem to care for nothing and consequently they are doing nothing. "The Senate," Major Stedman said, "meets at 2 o'clock, when it should meet at 12, and then after a session of an hour or so it adjourns without having accomplished anything. The Senators seem determined to do nothing and are bent on preventing the House from accomplishing anything."

Major Stedman said that there was really some doubt as to whether the Senate would pass the Canadian reciprocity bill and if they did it would be only because Taft's efforts in this direction. He said that the Republicans claim if they pass the measure it will mean utter defeat for them next year. They realize that they have no hope for victory next year and are making no effort to conceal their discomfiture over the situation in which they are placed. Even Joe Cannon is at times dejected, he said.

Congressman Stedman said that the House would probably take up the woolen schedule and possibly the cotton schedule, but he was of the opinion that little or nothing would be done to afford the relief so badly needed as to these two products. He stated that the people would be shown that the Democrats were making every effort to fulfill the pledges made prior to the election last fall and if they accomplished nothing in this direction the blame would fall upon the Republicans in the Senate and would only make the election of a Democratic president in 1912 more certain.

Major Stedman said that he was delighted with Washington and had been shown every courtesy by his colleagues in the House. He had no idea, he said, as to when Congress would adjourn.

HER BODY IS FOUND.

Search for Young Society Woman Ends in River.

Nashua, N. H., May 22.—Uncertainty as to the fate of Miss Blanche S. Willoughby, a talented young woman prominent in the social affairs of the city, whose coat, hat and gloves were found on the banks of the Merrimack river last Monday, ended today with the finding of her body floating in the stream.

Miss Willoughboy is said to have brooded over the illness of her finance, Captain Harrison D. Swain, U. S. M. C., retired, of Nashua, who had made preparations to go West for his health, and also over the fear that she herself had contracted tuberculosis.

PLANTER MURDERED

Negro Under Arrest and Likely to Be Lynched.

Crawfordsville, Ga., May 22.—Henry Googer, aged fifty years, a well-known and prosperous planter, residing a mile from this place, was found murdered last night in a field where he had been at work, and Joseph Moore, a negro farm hand, is under arrest, charged with the crime. The indications are said to be strong for a lynching.

Googer evidently had been shot in the back while at work, and his slayer had then crushed in the back of his head with stones. It is said that the negro and Googer quarreled Friday over a trivial matter, and the negro left the farm.

Eagle Pass, Texas, May 22.—Two hundred and twenty-five Chinese are reported killed in a fight with Mexican insurrectos at Torreon.

President of the American Federation of Labor And Two of That Organization's Bitterest Foes.

At a recent meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers President John Kirby, Jr., made a bitter attack on trades unionists, with particular reference to the Los Angeles Times dynamiting outrage. General Harrison Gray Otis, owner of that newspaper, declared that the disaster itself was unimportant beside the great cause at stake in his war against unionism. By way of retaliation President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor issued an open challenge to the manufacturers' organization to make public its financial statement for the past five years. Gompers declared that the figures would show that $1,500,000 had been expended to war on union labor and for just such purposes as "the Los Angeles frame-up," in order to cast an odium on the federation. Gompers added that to this end the manufacturers carried on their payroll a large corps of detectives, lawyers and even judges.

EPISCOPAL COUNCIL HOLDS 12TH MEETING IN FAYETTEVILLE

Special to Telegram.

Fayetteville, N. C., May 22.—The Episcopal Council of the Diocese of East Carolina continued its sessions in St. John's church here today. The hearing of committee reports and a running discussion of Sunday school work and methods, occasioned by the Sunday School Commission's report, consumed the day.

Bishop Strange's address, delivered in St. John's Sunday, was an able and exhaustive document and showed that the budget is larger by $800 than the contributions for the funds included therein last year, which was the best year up to that time. There were 325 confirmations during the year.

This is the twelfth Council to meet in St. John's church. Rev. Nathanial Harding is presiding.

UNCLE SAM OFFERS GERMANY A CHANCE

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 22.—The German government has been advised by the United States that the general arbitration proposition submitted to England and France is open to Germany also, if that country is interested. There has been an informal discussion of the proposition with Japan, but that country has not been committed to anything in the nature of a definite statement.

TELEGRAMS BEARING ON LORIMER CASE CANNOT BE FOUND

Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 22.—Since the Senate plans to vote on reopening the Lorimer case it is discovered that telegrams sent from the House of Representatives during the period from March to June, 1909, have been destroyed. This period covered the crisis of the deadlock at Springfield, which was broken by the unexpected election of Lorimer. Lorimer's messages to Edward Hines of the lumber trust and to members of the beef trust, at the time the fight to unseat him was pending in July and August, 1909, have fortunately been preserved and are available for the present investigation.

The messages destroyed were expected to throw light on Lorimer's knowledge of what was done at Springfield in the deal to secure his election.

OFFICIALS WORKING ON RAILROAD RATE CASES

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 22.—Corporation Commissioner W. T. Lee is just back from Washington where he spent the past several days on business for the commission, especially looking into matters pertaining to the hearing that takes place Wednesday before the new commerce court in which an injunction is sought by railroad companies against the enforcement of the order of the interstate commerce commission for the Norfolk & Southern Company to reduce considerably the freight rates to Winston-Salem and Durham so they will be more equitable as compared with the rates from Cincinnati and other points west to Virginia cities. In this effort for restraining order the Southern and Seaboard Air Line have joined hands with the Norfolk & Southern as has the Atlantic Coast Line, lest the enforcement of this reduction may bring about reductions of freight rates on all these lines to North Carolina points generally through the fight that has been made by Carolina tariff associations and the corporation commission for a number of years as discriminations in favor of Virginia cities. The case went up to the Interstate Commerce Commission before which the necessity for the reduction was pressed by the Corporation Commission. There have been half dozen or more postponements of the date for the application of the reduced rates and then there was the appeal to the commerce court. Chairman Franklin McNeill of the Corporation Commission, and Attorney General T. W. Bickett will go to Washington for the hearing before the commerce court Wednesday.

GOULD ENGINEERS VIRGINIAN TRACTION CONSOLIDATION SCHEME

Special to Telegram.

New York, May 22.—At a meeting of the directors of the Virginia Railroad and Power Company and the Norfolk and Portsmouth Traction Company a plan was approved for the consolidation of the two companies, with a capital of $20,000,000. Of this amount $8,000,000 is preferred stock. Holders of the Norfolk and Portsmouth stock will receive one and one-half shares of the new stock for each share of their holdings in the old concern. The preferred stock will be exchanged share for share.

There will be a meeting of the stockholders of the two concerns held June 22 to ratify the agreement. Frank J. Gould, the controlling factor in the Virginia railway, is the largest individual stockholder in the Norfolk. Under the consolidation he will control the entire properties.

OLDEST RESIDENCE IN AMERICA BURNED

Special to Telegram.

Hampton, Va., May 22.—"Chesterville," the original home of George Wythe, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and supposed to be the oldest residence in America, has been destroyed by fire. Mrs. Robert Hudgins was the owner of the place, which was beautifully situated on the bank of the river. The house was 175 years old.

GOV. KITCHIN TO ADDRESS GRADUATES OF STATE NORMAL

Graduating Exercises of Class of 1911 Will be Held This Morning—Annual Sermon Sunday by Dr. T. H. Lewis—Class Day Exercises Yesterday.

This morning at 10:30 o'clock Governor William W. Kitchin will deliver the annual address before the graduating class of the North Carolina State Normal and Industrial College, immediately following which Attorney General T. W. Bickett will present to the members of the class copies of the state constitution and Rev. Melton Clark will present copies of the Bible. The diplomas will then be awarded the graduates by President Foust and prize-winners announced.

The exercises will be held in the Students' building and the public is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

Annual Sermon Sunday Morning.

The annual sermon to the graduating class was preached Sunday morning at 11 o'clock before an audience that taxed the capacity of the auditorium of the Students' building and scores stood in the hallways. The sermon was by Dr. T. H. Lewis, of Westminster College, Westminster, Md., and the speaker was given the closest attention during the hour and a quarter he was speaking.

The exercises began with a prelude "Largo, from Xerxes," Handel, by the college orchestra, at the conclusion of which the audience joined in singing "Come, Thou Almighty King," Rev. R. Murphy Williams made the invocation and the Ninety-first Psalm was read in concert by the audience, "Hear, O Lord," was sung by a quartet, composed of Mrs. Ernest Teague, soprano; Miss Edna Clare Bryner, contralto; W. C. A. Hammel, tenor; F. O. Lawson, baritone; Mrs. Myra Albright, accompanist. After the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," President Foust introduced the speaker, Dr. Lewis.

Dr. Lewis chose for his subject "Human Responsibility" and throughout the address he was given close attention by not only the graduates but the entire audience. He divided his sermon into four sub topics—Hospitality, Contentment, Pride, Consolation. He stated the first two were lacking while there was too much of the third. Have hospitality and contentment written in your hearts and abolish pride and this will necessarily give you the fourth—consolation, he said.

Speaking of the grace of hospitality, which Dr. Lewis said was one of the chief graces of woman, he pointed out the fact that the grace is the exception nowadays rather than the rule. Too many use the pen-knife of selfishness and live unto themselves, he said. The speaker referred to the instructions of the Apostles Peter and Paul regarding hospitality. Hospitality is a woman's grace, he said, and the lack of hospitality shows that women are deteriorating in one of their finest charms. The divine injunction "no man liveth to himself alone," is still the law, despite the fact that it is so often broken. The speaker urged the graduates to exert their efforts toward stopping the decay of hospitality.

Speaking of contentment he pointed out the fact that the happy man ever gets what he wants, but the man who is not happy is the one who never wants what he gets. Some people, he declared, are grouchy over everything. They are ever wanting something and know not what it is. He illustrated this by telling of the whimsical fancies of children who cry for a thing until they get it and as soon as they lay hands on it its charms fail to attract and they at once cry for somthing else. However, he declared, there is such a thing as divine discontent. One never ought to be satisfied with ignoable things, but should spur onward to higher and nobler things that will give to one a reward in the life to come.

Taking up the third topic Dr. Lewis said that there was hardly anything less agreeable than pride. We should recognize the value of other people's things and be willing to admit their superiority over our own things. We must remember that there are others just as good as we are and have just as valuable possessions. The speaker deplored the fact that women are possessed of pride more than men. He referred to the fact that the downfall of women is traceable largely to their pride. And the worst of it is, he said, that the educated women are leading with fashion fads that cause discontent, causes girls to leave the pure country and flock to the cities in vain effort to keep up with the styles, often going down to the lowest depths of human degredation in order that they may keep the pace. Of course, he said, beastly men are in part responsible for the ruin of many women, but the larger measure is due to pride, which is certain to bring about discontentment.

The final grace, consolation, the product derived when the first two hospitality and contentment, are added to one's life and the third, pride, is subtracted, was then touched on. Woman, said the speaker, either brings consolation or crime. You cannot evade the responsibility of womanhood, he declared. He referred to the fact that woman was in her glory as mistress of the home, that as the companion and helpmeet of man a woman in whose home there was hospitality, contentment and consolation was in the full bloom of glory and was living as God Almighty intended that she should live. He pointed out to the graduates that they were starting out on life's journey and upon them was resting a grave responsibility. That they would either make the lives of others better and bring unto them happiness, or they would bring unhappiness and ruin.

Following the sermon Mrs. Ernest Teague sang "Hear Ye, O Israel" and Dr. Lewis pronounced the bendiction following the singing of the doxology.

The commencement marshals, who attended to the seating of the large crowd in a most excellent manner, are as follows:

Address to Y. W. C. A.

Sunday evening in Peabody Park the annual address was delivered before the Young Women's Christian Association by Dr. Edward Mims, of the University of North Carolina. The address was heard by the student body and a large gathering of friends. Dr. Mims is a forceful speaker and his address contained many beautiful thoughts, all being brought out in a convincing manner.

Class Day Exercises.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Peabody Park a tragic comedy, entitled "Class Day Exercises," was presented in five acts. Between the acts there was music by the Junior, Sophomore and Freshmen classes. A large crowd assembled and greeted the class with loud applause as the thirty-eight young ladies marched upon the stage. The stage was located in the woods, the rear and sides being composed of thick under-

Paris, May 22.—Physicians today reported as satisfactory the condition of Antoine E. Monis, the French premier and minister of the interior, who was seriously injured yesterday, when an aeroplane, piloted by M. Train, dashed into a group of government officials on the military field at Issy les Moulineaux. They had gathered to witness the start of the Paris-to-Madrid race. Henri M. Berteaux, the French Minister of War, was killed and two other men were hurt.

Premier Monis was buried beneath the wreckage of the monoplane, sustaining compound fractures of two bones in the right leg, his nose was broken, his face bruised. He passed a quiet night.

Pierre Vedrine, undismayed by the wreck of his own machine, yesterday, just prior to the disaster in which the French Minister of War was killed, again started in the Paris to Madrid race, early this morning.

Vedrine Made Record.

Paris, May 22.—M. Vedrine today covered the distance of 279 miles from the aviation field at Issy les Moulineux to Angoulene in three hours and 39 minutes. This is the world's record for distance across the country.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOUTH LEADS THE NATION.

The progress made by the farmers of the South and the increase in agricultural production in this section almost staggers the mind of the man who delves into the figures.

The country and the world thinks of the Southern farmer as a cotton grower, and to a large extent he is; but Southern farmers are practicing diversity in their operations and are producing millions upon millions of dollars worth of products in addition to the cotton crop. Less than two decades ago, in the era of low cotton and before Southern farmers began to grow corn, wheat, hay and vegetables and to give attention to cattle raising, there were none so poor as to do them honor. The poorest, most downtrodden, most overworked, most hopeless specimen of humanity on the face of the earth was the average tenant farmer in the cotton belt. Every resident of the cotton belt and all who were familiar with conditions in the South in the days of four cents cotton know that this statement is not overdrawn. In fact, the conditions in those days have been pictured in much stronger language than this by Senator Smith of South Carolina, Harvie Jordan of Georgia, President Charles S. Barrett of the Farmers' Union, and many other leaders among Southern farmers who were entirely familiar with the apparently hopeless condition of the farmers during that period.

The change which has been wrought in a decade and a half among the cotton farmers is marvelous, and the progress of the farmers who live in the Southern States outside the cotton belt has been equally marked. Nowadays everybody does honor to the Southern farmer. He is the most talked about, the most prosperous citizen of this section and his friendship and his business is sought by all other classes of people. The Southern farmer has, to some extent, come into his own; but not fully, as there are better days ahead and more prosperity and more happiness are in store for the farmer and his family.

However, Southern farmers have not reaped where they did not sow; they have received nothing to which they were not entitled. They have contributed more largely than any other class to the rehabiliation of the old South and its transformation into the new South. They found a wrecked and ruined and practically waste section after the close of the War Between the States, and they have made it to blossom and bring forth abundantly and have transformed it into the world's agricultural paradise.

These thoughts about Southern farmers and farm conditions are called to mind by the report of the United States Agricultural Department, which shows that the South now leads the nation as an agricultural section. This report shows that the value of farm products the past year in Texas was greater than the value of farm products in Illinois. The supremacy of the great middle western commonwealth has been wrested from it by the greatest of the southwestern States, and a Southern State leads all the other States in the value of farm products. Texas not only led all the States in value of farm products, but led the world in cotton production. Texas had ten million acres of land in cultivation and farm products valued at $364,110,000.

In the value of farm products Illinois ranked second and Iowa third, but the fourth place is held by a Southern State—Georgia—the Empire State of the southeast. The value of Georgia's agricultural products was $210,592,000. North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas each far exceed the hundred million mark in agricultural products.

The South never was the home of any considerable number of what our fellow citizens in some sections of the country have been pleased to term "shiftless" folks. Some of them may have been honestly mistaken in their application of this term to the people of the South, because these people have labored under peculiar conditions which the remainder of the country did not understand. It may be said, however, without attempting to condone any of the inherent defects of our people or to gloss any of the mistakes of the past, that the South is emphatically no longer liable to the charge of being "shiftless."

The natural resources of this section have but been touched on the surface. The soil of the South will produce infinitely more bountiful crops than have ever sprung from its soil. This section is bathed in the early morning glow of its agricultural development; the splendor of the noonday will break upon it later.

What has been done, however, is to the credit of Southern farmers and to the glory of Southern soil. It gives an insight into the possibilities of this section and its people.

The South is leading in many of the avenues of human effort in this the greatest country of the world; and the South's farmers are doing their share of the magnificent work that is to make this the most populous and wealthy, and in every respect, the greatest section of the globe.

Going, Growing Greater Greensboro leads.

Keep it before the people of Greensboro that the railroad to Henderson must be built.

"An association of fowl men has been formed in Atlanta", says an exchange. It is not composed of baseball players, however.

The sweet girl graduate season will soon be followed by the June bride season. Some of the former may appear in the principal role during the last mentioned period.

"The Passing of Diaz" will furnish material for several thousand newspaper essays, and these will serve to keep the old man before the public for a while longer.

The movement for a safe and sane Fourth of July is in full blast, and about a month later the campaign to induce the people to do their Christmas shopping early will be due.

"What is a Mince Pie" asks the New York World. It is probable that the cook who makes it is unable to give an explicit answer, so why put the question up to the public.

The Wilmington Dispatch has heard the call of Wrightsville Beach. The editor of the Dispatch has evidently been watching the girls pass through Wilmington enroute to the Beach.

Atlanta Journal announces that the season is just right for beer. What about nigh-beer? That is said to be even more popular in Georgia than the old-fashioned kind.

Ex-Secretary of War Dickinson is being mentioned as the successor of Robert L. Taylor in the United States Senate. Mr. Dickinson is one of the ablest living Tennesseeans and is Senatorial timber of the largest and finest kind.

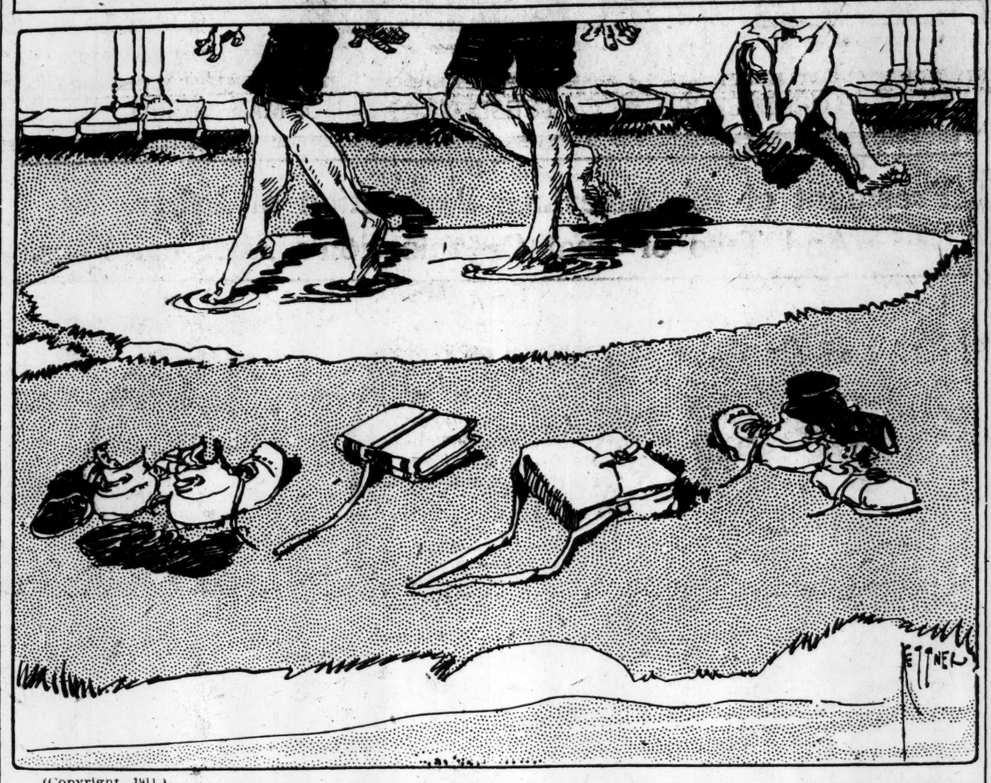
There is nothing but good feeling in Greensboro for all the other towns of the State; therefore, we do not respond in kind when some of the others discharge their blank cartridges in this direction.

The way in which the Richmond Times-Dispatch jumps on the Commoner clearly indicates that the Virginia newspaper is jealous of the former. The subscription lists of Bryan's paper are growing too rapidly to please "Deacon" Hemphill.

J. Pierpont Morgan is another eminent financier who is "deelighted" with the Standard Oil decision. This makes it unanimous among the eminent financiers, and it is strange under the circumstances that some of the common people are kicking about the decision.

There is good business for Greensboro in the hundred miles of territory between this city and Henderson. We can get it by building the Greensboro, Roxboro and Henderson railroad. The railroad will pay and it will pay Greensboro to get in touch with the people along the line. Let every citizen of Greensboro get behind the movement to build this road.

TEMPTATIONS IN SPRING



(Copyright, 1911.)

NO EXPLANATION NECESSARY.

There was no disposition on the part of the Durham officials to rub it into the Greensboro automobilists, this being evidenced by the fact that the recorder remitted the fines. If it had been known at the time that it was a racing party from a neighboring town the arrests would probably not have been made, yet there is no getting around the fact that the speed maintained was dangerous, the two wrecked cars bearing evidence of it.—Durham Herald.

The Telegram, if it may be permitted to speak for the gentlemen composing the Greensboro automobile party, assures the people of Durham that no explanation such as the above paragraph from the Herald was necessary. The arrest of the gentlemen who were in the wreck occured in Durham was the natural sequence of the event, in view of the fact that the officers of that city were not acquainted with the nature of the enterprise in which the Greensboro people were engaged. The fairness and courtesy of the Durham officials and citizens, however, after they were informed of the facts in the case, was greatly appreciated by the gentlemen from this city and no further explanation and no apology is now necessary from any source.

HAYWOOD AND THE VIRGINIAN

It is a very lucky paper that comes to North Carolina for editors. The Richmond Virginian has secured R. W. Haywood, formerly of The Greensboro Telegram, on its staff. He has ability and character, and The Virginian is to be congratulated.—Raleigh News and Observer.

R. W. Haywood, former owner of the Greensboro Telegram, and who previously was editor of The Dispatch, has accepted a position on the editorial staff of the Richmond Virginian. Two fine ones well met. Haywood is a good newspaper man and the Virginian a good newspaper.—Wilmington Dispatch.

The Greensboro Telegram announces that R. W. Haywood, formerly editor and proprietor of that paper, is back in the newspaper field. Mr. Haywood is now a member of the editorial staff of the Richmond Virginian, of which the brilliant Robert L. Gray was recently editor. Thus, the Virginian has made a second draft on North Carolina's journalistic talent, and its second draft is likewise a good one. Mr. Haywood is an experienced newspaper man, and there are mixed in him the combined elements of character, conviction and ability that make him a splendid acquisition for a paper of the high ideals of the Virginian. Bob Haywood is a graduate from The Star institute of scribedom and we are proud for one like him to show his diploma from this sanctum. The Virginian has a good eye.—Wilmington Star.

The Winston-Salem Automobile Trip to Greensboro.

Barring a few minor accidents, confined mostly to punctures, the automobile tour from Winston-Salem to Greensboro and return yesterday, under the auspices of the Winston-Salem Automobile Club, was one of the largest and most successful affairs of its kind ever handled in this State. And every one of the three hundred or more people who took part in the tour seemed to thoroughly enjoy the trip. Almost all the cars were assembled at the starting place long before the hour for the start and when the time arrived they began checking out at intervals of a half a minute until the last of the 56 entries had pulled out. Every car was loaded to its fullest capacity and almost every one carried ladies, many of whom seemed to be even more enthusiastic over the affairs than some of the men.

On reaching Greensboro the procession lined up in front of the Guilford hotel for a short rest, before going out to the ball park. The Greensboro people were very hospitable and did their best to make everything as pleasant for the visitors as possible, and large banners were strung across several of the principal streets with the words, "Welcome Winston-Salem." The management of the Guilford hotel should be complimented for the special attention and the many courtesies extended to the visitors.

At the park a special portion of the grandstand was reserved for the Winston-Salem people, and though the whole place was packed to over-flowing and large crowds stood out around the edges of the field, every one who wore a Winston-Salem badge was tendered a seat.

The record ride to Greensboro was made by G. W. Painter in his Schacht 40. The run was made from the city to Greensboro, 36 miles, in 1 hour and 3 minutes. Mr. Painter carried five passengers. The machine was entered for the tour, but did not leave with the tourists. Mr. Painter had just got in on a long drive from Charlotte in the same machine about 2 o'clock, and left for Greensboro at 2:15. — Winston-Salem Journal.

Advertising Talks
H. G. B.

THAT TWO AND TWO MAKE FOUR IS A VERY SIMPLE SUM, not more so, however, than many problems which prove serious obstacles in the progress of many a man's life. Many men do not succeed because they fail to put two and two together.

ADVERTISING IS ONE OF THE "TWOS" that is essential in working the SUM OF SUCCESS. You may have a stock of goods equal to any in your line and the other advantages which you are prepared to offer may be as good or better than any of those of your competitors. You may know this, but in order to succeed you want the public to become posted also. ADVERTISING IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

YOU MUST NOT EXPECT ADVERTISING TO DO THE WHOLE THING. Advertising is merely ONE of the essential factors in the upbuilding of the business enterprises of the day. You must have the goods, and you must have the salesmen to augment the advertising.

IN GREENSBORO, THE TELEGRAM, THE PAPER THAT GOES HOME, that prints all the news that is fit to print while the bloom is on it, is your best opportunity for working the SUM OF SUCCESS.

(By FRANK L. STANTON.)

My true Love is May.
Ever changing season, haste, haste away!
My false love was April, my true love is May.

April had no flowers—not a rose to spare,
But now glad Love is kissing his sweetheart's eyes and hair.

Earth rolls close to heaven—life's a rosy dream.

SPRING ITEMS.

Swearing at the stovepipe beats no carpets.

Spring has millinery stores everywhere, with rainbows for ribbons.

How can you expect the mule to step lively in the furrows when he sees the fisherman fast asleep on the river bank?

The slow thunder has heard the spring command, and has joined the ranks of the old-time growlers.

Some folks don't want to dig for the life in the old land because they are afraid it will rise up and run away from them.

Sleeping With the Roses.

Summer's 'way off yonder still as still can be,
Sleeping with the roses that were sweet to see,
But in my heart forever the summer sings to me.

The memory of mockingbird, the sad plaint of a dove;
The twinkling, dew-drenched gardens, the holy sky above,
The pleasant pathways leading to the violet vales of Love.

The sweet—the unforgotten—the beautiful and blest;
Asleep there, in the silence, we love the summer best,
With the light of Heaven round her and the roses on her breast.

The Electric Storm in Billville.

Says the Millville Banner: "The electric storm was a Godsend to us. Our subscribers had heard that the world was coming to an end, and when the magestic display came they rushed in and paid every dollar they owed. Prophets who predict the speedy end of the world are welcome to our little city."

In the Wake of the Measles.

The little son of Mrs. O. B. Palmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough which grew worse and he could not sleep. She Says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, Whooping cough, measles cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. For sale by Howard Gardner.

may not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for women. "They gave me wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlay, of Leadill, Tenn. If ailing, try them. 25c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only. 50c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

What a Druggist States.

There are Liver Syrups, Liver Pills and Dry Regulators, all too drastic and disagreeable and, while may give quick relief from one trouble, get you into worse often. Vick's Little Liver Pills are made right and always produce curative effect and have no taste—far superior to calomel for children and have no equal as Tonic Laxative.

WARNING TO RAILROAD MEN.

E. S. Bacon, 11 Bast St., Bath, Me., sends out this warning to railroad men: "As conductor on the railroad, my work caused a chronic inflamation of the kidneys, and I was miserable and all played out. A friend advised Foley Kidney Pills and from the day I commenced taking them, I began to regain my strength. The inflammation cleared and I am far better than I have been for twenty years. The weakness and dizzy spells are a thing of the past and I highly recommend Foley Kidney Pills."

"Where can I hide?" grasped the mining stock promoter, as he burst into his office. "The police are coming"

"Get into the simplified card index case!" cried the chief clerk. "I defy anyone to find anything in there!"—London Opinion.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

HEALTHY PLANTS
Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

PROGRESSIVES SHOULD UNITE

So Thinks Senator Newlands of Nevada, a Democrat.

INSURGENTS DO NOT AGREE.

Intend to Stay In the Party—Believe They Will Become the Majority—One Near Indian Who Was Almost Funny. Called Roosevelt "Bull Goose of Insurgency."

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 22.—[Special.]—"Progressive amalgamation" was one phrase in a recent speech made by Senator Newlands of Nevada, who thinks that all persons who believe in progressive policies should unite and vote for progressive legislation. If Newlands was not so serious one might suspect that he makes that kind of talk simply for the purpose of sticking pins in certain stalwart standpatters on the Republican side and reactionaries on the Democratic side. He always gets a rise out of Senator Heyburn of Idaho, who froths over the word "progressive" and snorts at "reactionary." But such men as Bailey and his followers do not take much part in discussions which Newlands provokes on the question of the amalgamation of the progressive Republicans with the Democrats in order to carry out certain reform legislative policies. Newlands looks somewhat a humorist, and oftentimes it seems that he is having serious fun with his fellow senators.

Glad to See Them Go.

Beyond doubt there are many stalwart Republicans who would be glad to see the progressives leave the Republican party and go over to the Democrats. The regulars have been annoyed a great deal over the fact that men who call themselves Republicans band into a separate organization, act independently of the party and bolt party nominations. They would much rather be in the minority in party matters, although they would hate to give up the powerful committee chairmanships they now hold and the fine committee rooms they occupy. But they do not like this separate organization in the least.

But They Intend to Stay.

But the progressives are not going to move. They intend to stay in the Republican party. They claim they have taken control of the Republican party in their respective states and that if they should announce themselves as Democrats it would not carry their followers at home over to the Democratic party. Progressives would still control the party at home just as they do now and just as silver men sixteen years ago took possession of the Democratic party. Only at that time the silver men were in the majority and the gold men were said to belong to the Republicans. The progressives insist that in time they will have the majority and the stalwarts will be called bolters or outsiders.

Burton to Sherman.

One day, when Senator Newlands was speaking, Burton of Ohio and Bacon of Georgia became interested in their own conversation and soon were talking loud enough to drown the voice of the Nevada senator. Vice President Sherman rapped with his gavel and shook his head severely at the senators. Soon after a page handed Sherman this note from Burton: "If that admonition meant that I was to cease conversation I accept it as just and reasonable, but if it meant that I was to listen to Newlands I will see you in a warm atmosphere first."

Samples of Indian Humor.

It has been claimed that the Indian has no humor, but Congressman Carter of Oklahoma, who is seven-sixteenths Chickasaw and Cherokee, shows that he has a humorous streak in his composition. He was making a speech on the tariff, and his time expired. Looking around, he could not see Chairman Underwood, who had charge of the time, and he remarked, "I do not see our distinguished leader here who has charge of the time, and so I will yield myself a few more minutes." Beginning his speech, he said that enough had been said on the tariff and he did not intend to take away part in the debate, "and my excuse for inflicting this effusion upon this unoffending presence is that I have heard from the boys at home."

Carter went after Jim Mann and likened him to "a refractory mule that has been hit over the head with a blind bridle and is a bit skittish." He used the term "when the smoke of battle has cleared away," and Madden of Illinois wanted to know if it was smokeless powder. "The gentleman from Illinois never uses it because it does not make noise enough," retorted Carter. As an argument why insurgents should be for Canadian reciprocity he quoted from the Outlook and said it had as contributing editor "one Theodore Roosevelt, who is the very bull goose of Republican insurgency." He said that the Republicans would soon be going into a campaign and would be "reeking with dissension and handicapped by repudiation."

All of which shows that the Indian is sometimes picturesque and humorous.

JAP BALL TEAM LOOKS VERY GOOD

Orientals Play Better Game of Baseball Than Is Imagined.

MADE CHICAGO BOYS HUSTLE.

Although Defeated, Waseda University Team Put Up Fast and Clever Exhibition—Players Are Small—Game Popular In Flowery Kingdom.

"Waseda! Waseda! Waseda, sa! Da wassy! Da wassy, sa! Wassy, sa!" It sounds even worse than it looks reduced to writing. It is the Waseda university yell. The college baseball players from Japan emit it before taking the field. Diamond fans in Chicago recently had the pleasure of listening to it when the Japanese ball tossers tackled the University of Chicago team and were defeated.

Although the oriental exponents of America's own pastime did not win, they surprised the fans by putting up a fast and clever brand of ball. Omura, who pitched the entire nine innings, was there with a steady wing and arm motion that fooled his opponents repeatedly. He fielded well, fanned two Maroons and held Chicago to seven hits. Oi at first base, Ohara at second, Omachi at short and Fukubori at third all starred in the infield in spots, while Yamaguchi was clever behind the bat. Mikami, Iseda and Yawata in the gardens were there with heady fielding. The Japs will play several other college teams in this country before they return home next fall.

Some seven years ago Waseda university sent a baseball team to America. That was practically the start of the American pastime in the home of the mikado. Today baseball is on a different scale. Players no longer wear the Japanese tabi or sock, but are equipped with the regulation spiked shoe. Baseball gloves, masks and other paraphernalia are made after the American patterns by home manufacturers, and the spitball and the squeeze play are as familiar terms to the Japanese college chap as to the schoolboy who adorns the San Francisco bleacher section.

They are still lacking somewhat, so they admit, in the art of pitching and batting, but if they learn as fast in the next seven years as they have in the past they will be wonders, easily capable of meeting the best amateur teams in this country.

Waseda's delegation is in charge of A. Takasugi, a professor of English in his home institution as well as a graduate of Northwestern college and a teacher for several years at De Pauw, Indiana.

Professor Abe, known throughout Japan as the "father of baseball," because it was he who practically gave the sport a start, was unable to come, occupied as he is with his faculty work and the worries involved as president of the baseball association.

Generally speaking, the Japanese have a team of small men. The "giant" in the crowd is Oi, captain last year and first sacker this season. Oi measures about five feet nine inches in height and looks to tip the scales at 175 pounds. The midget, on the other hand, is Omachi, who plays shortstop and blushingly admits to five feet three inches and a poundage in comparison. The balance of the men straggled in between these two sizes, with a tendency toward the smaller one. This team is captained by Matsuda.

ROBERT CARTER'S NEW YORK LETTER

(By ROBERT LEE CARTER.)
Special to Telegram.

New York, May 22.—New York is to double her subway capacity—some day. The way she goes about getting their is typical of the big lazy, good natured city. I know it is the generally accepted idea that New York is a type of American push and energy which wanting a thing goes after it and gets it.

There never was a more mistaken idea. Individual New Yorkers may be that way, but the city collectively is about as swift as molasses in January. Witness the fact that New York is the only city in the country with more than 10,000 population that has horse cars, the only city of any size which permits grade crossings for steam railroads in the most congested section of the city and above all the only city in the world of any size whatever which would tolerate for 24 hours the subway crush.

The situation would be funny if it was not sad. The city has plenty of money with which to build all the subways she needs, no less than three concerns have declared their readiness to operate them and help to build and equip them. Yet the authorities discuss and consider and postpone, while the citizens with more or less good humor submit to be compressed into the present subway cars to a degree which would make any self respecting sardine rise in wrath.

In the matter of manana, the New York City authorities having this subway matter in charge have the Mexicans beaten seven ways from the ace.

In the opinion of some of the peace advocates Banker James Speyer has solved the problem of universal peace in his plan to have an agreement by which no loans should be made to belligerent powers who went to war without first submitting their grievances and differences to arbitration or judicial settlement at the Hague.

Some famous war expert once remarked that an army "like a snake moved upon its belly." In these days a nation's capacity for war is guaged largely by the size of its pocket book—with the cash shut off the fighting ceases.

Mr. Speyer's plan is beautifully simple. The only trouble about it is the same as it was with a new press which was revolutionize the printing business which I once financed. The idea was fine but it wouldn't work.

Bankers, are not in business for their health and when a fighting nation wants money bad enough to pay the price for it, the bankers will furnish it.

There is good news for the small boy in the annnouncement made by the health officer of the District of Columbia that the prodigal use of soap is injurious to health. There is hardly one of us who remembers his boyhood days who will not sympathize with this doctrine.

Capt. Toguri, of the Japanese navy, says the strongest features of the American navy was not in its rapid numberical progress, backed by inexhaustible resources, or in superior shipbuilding facilities, but in America's highly advanced knowledge of naval architecture.

"When it comes to the application of electricity," said Capt. Toguri, "America easily beats all other nations. The successful circumnavigation of the globe a few years ago by the American fleet really broke the world's record and furnished America with practical knowledge of a fleet which must be added to the store of her qualifications. All her naval bases and forts in the Philippines and Hawaii are nearing completion, and when the Panama canal is opened America will occupy a predominant position in the Pacific.

"It is very difficult to discriminate between two navies in the matter of superiority of armaments and the skill of officers and men, and hence the best way of comparing navies is to take just the ships. If Japan wishes to retain control over the Pacific, she must build a fleet powerful enough to beat off the squadrons which a belligerent power might be able to send to the scene."

That half of the farmers in Bullock county, Georgia, bring their chickens and eggs to market in automobiles was learned by Richard H. Edmonds, editor of Manufacturers' Record. Business men in Statesboro, the principal town of Bullock county, says that most of the $2,000,000 deposits in four banks is surplus money of the farmers, whose prosperous conditions they attribute to the use of automobiles in the quick transportation of farm products.

All though the South Mr. Edmonds found a marked enthusiasm for the automobile and in most counties this has stimulated the building of good roads. Millions of dollars of bonds have been voted in Texas, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama and Florida for highway impromevent.

"These cotton men, the raisers of cotton, I mean, had better not be too importunate in their demands," declares Herbert N. Tillinghast, from the Sheboygan district of Wisconsin. "We have made almost everything out of our spruce timber, including a lot of trouble for the tariff adjusters. Paper from wood is an old tale, and now comes the proposition to make clothes from wood, and good clothes that will wear better than the most of the cotton stuff. The cotton spinners have long been experimenting with cellulose extracted from our spruce timber, and they have proceeded on the assumption that bleached cotton is really almost pure cellulose. Following that idea the investigators have discovered a method of making thread from wood pulp.

"The advantage of the spruce thread over cotton is that it will be much cheaper, and the finished product—the stuff ready for the tailor—will be cheaper than cotton in the bale and on the wharf waiting to be shipped to the New England mills. The Maine woods have plenty of spruce, not only for paper, but clothing, and are near the mills of the East. There is hope that the process of making cloth from wood will be developed, and the problem of a fast dye, a holding of color, has already been solved by the patient students. There is a suggestion, too, that the wooden clothes will wear longer than cotton goods, and a process is suggested to make woden garments that will not burn. There has been much attention paid to this wooden garments idea in Europe, only they have no forests of spruce like America to draw from, and the cotton growers of the South will continue sending their product abroad much as usual for many years to come."

Kitchen Convenience.

A half dozen thumb-tacks, such as are used by artists and architects, will prevent the oilcloth on kitchen tables from slipping. Three along the front edge of a table and the same number in back keeps it secure and smooth.

Mrs. Taylor Died Sunday Morning

Following an illness of several years the sad but not unexpected death of Mrs. Adeline Taylor occurred on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock. During the last stages of her sickness her condition was very serious, and friends and relatives gathered at her bedside in expectation of the summons.

The funeral was conducted from Muir's Chapel of which the deceased was a devoted member and a faithful attendant yesterday morning at ten o'clock. The services were attended by a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends.

Among the floral designs, which were numerous, were handsome designs sent by the Greensboro Fire Department and the members of the Eagle Hose Company.

Mrs. Taylor was a noble and highly esteemed woman and was the mother of Fred N. Taylor, Oscar and Edward Taylor and Mrs. Chas. P. Boren, of Pomona; Mrs. Chas. Dennin, of Oklahoma and Mrs. N. A. Ballinger, of Guilford College.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., May 22.—The map this morning shows fair weather, except in Alabama, East Tennessee, Georgia and Florida where it is cloudy. According to records there were general rains over Sunday in South Texas, Arkansas, part of Tennessee and North Louisiana and heavy rains in Alabama. There were good local showers in South Louisiana, parts of Mississippi and Northwest Georgia. Elsewhere little or no rain occurred. Temperatures in the Western States are lower, which is favorable. Oklahoma, North Texas and the Carolinas were the last favored by rain, whereas that particular part of the belt needs it most. Indications are for fair and warmer weather in the Western half of the belt, also in Mississippi and the Carolinas while indications are for local showers in Arkansas, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida.

Liverpool continues easy on old crops, spots are 7 points, with sales 5,000 while new crops rally quickly from any depression.

Liverpool writes us as follows: "Present small sales are merely because spinners are watching for a better moment to sell. They would do so on decline. The continent is still drawing on our stock which we cannot afford to diminish. If anything, we think our spinners are doing better and some bookings are being made very far ahead. A large short interest has been created in new crops and the strength of new crops is quite a feature."

Our market opened lower on the poor opening in the summer months in New York and the usual weather selling in new crops but July and August were soon supported and the entire list rallied. All that can be said about the steadiness of new crops is that the market carries about as much short interest as it can stand at the discount and continued favorable weather and crop developments are needed to prevent short acres.

Mills Running Short of Cotton.

New York, May 22.—The Journal of Commerce says: It seems cotton manufacturers have postponed curtailment until they have cramped their surplus accounts and exhausted their cotton supplies. Mills have but from 30 to 60 days supply of cotton in hand and they have been selling their cloths as fast as they made it. They are seeing the place where they will have no cotton and no cloth, and it is nearer than they thought it would be.

Prominent Citizen of High Point Dead

High Point, May 22.—Mr. Ernest R. Carr died at his home in this city last night at 7.50 o'clock. Although his condition was generally known and the end had been momentarily expected for 24 hours previous, there was no less a feeling of sadness that followed the announcement of his death.

The deceased was the third son of Prof. O. W. Carr, and was born at Trinity, N. C. He was 34 years old. He was educated at Trinity and afterwards went in business with his father in Greensboro, where he remained until moving to High Point. Norfolk, Va., May 22.—George B. Todd, of the Todd Implement Company, who was supposed to have committed suicide by jumping from a stateroom of the steamer Florida, this morning telegraphed his wife from St. Louis. He stated in the message that he had been in a trance until he reached Cincinnatti, due it is believed to worry, overwork and nervousness. He will return home at once. His family knew nothing of Todd's departure until informed by officers of the steamboat company that valuables had been found in his stateroom. The store had been closed, his relatives thinking that he had committed suicide. The store was reopened on receipt of the message.

Lost—The Old Time Figures.

What has become of the old-fashioned man whose shoes squeaked as he walked cautiously down the church aisle, the Montgomery Advertiser asks. And the man who could hear a cowbell in the distance and determine by the sound of the bell whether Blossom was grazing or coming home? And the girl, wearing a bonnet—a real cloth bonnet, not a hat—who swept the yards Saturday afternoon, in anticipation of Sunday company? And the schoolboy who used a slate as a bookshelf between the schoolhouse and his home? And the housewife who knew how many holes a quilting frame should have? And the man who set a steel trap in the smokehouse? And the girl who never got on the left side of a cow to milk her? And the boy who carved his initials on a sweet gum tree and watched the letters disappear by the time he put on long pants? And the young man who tipped his hat to his elders? And the boy who went 'possum hunting with a negro on Friday night, winding up in a forbidden cane patch about eleven o'clock?

NORTH STATE CAPITAL NEWS

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 22.—Secretary C. H. Poe, of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association, says that he has polled the membership as to their choice of an additional distinguished speaker for the next annual meeting, Dr. C. Alphonso Smith having been already invited, and finds that there is a very general demand for Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. Among the others that the members were asked as to their preference there were Henry Van Dyke, James Rhodes, St. Clair McKelway, Henry Cabbott Lodge, Theodore Roosevelt, Jas. W. Elliott, and others. It is notable that Governor Wilson received fifty per cent more votes from the North Carolina Association members than all the others combined.

This afternoon at five o'clock there was the funeral of the late W. N. Snelling, who died Sunday at his home in this city. It was conducted from Central Methodist church of which he had been senior steward for many years. He was seventy years old and was for many years a successful and public-spirited business man. Rev. L. B. Jones and Rev. G. T. Adams, former pastors of Central church, were here to aid Rev. A. D. Wilcox, the pastor, in the funeral service. He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. H. T. Hicks.

The commencement seasons for St. Mary's School and Peace Institute are under way this week, the graduating exercises for St. Mary's to take place Thursday and the graduating exercises for Peace to be on Wednesday morning. The baccalaureate sermon for St. Mary's was delivered in the college chapel Sunday by Bishop Frederick Reece, of Georgia. High Ideals in Life was his theme and he urged upon the young ladies that in having high ideals and enlisting especially in the service of God there would be a joy and gladness that would come into their daily lives that is not to be attained otherwise.

For Peace Institute the baccalaureate sermon was by Dr. Alexander Sprunt of Charleston, at the Presbyterian church. The importance of personal theology and right ideals of God was the burden of his address. This afternoon there was the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association and the art exhibit, which is pronounced an especially creditable affair.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters recently had five insurance risk specialists here making a detailed inspection of Raleigh in this respect and the report of this board is just out. It is the first time that Raleigh has been put through such an inspection, although a number of the other cities have been inspected heretofore. A feature of the report is insistance that Raleigh must have a paid fire department. Also there is criticism of the lack of proper extension of water works protection for the more remote sections of the city.

Federal court convened this morning for the May term and the regular business will begin with the calling of the calendars for Moore, Chatham, Harnett, Sampson, Lee counties. On this calendar there are sixteen cases for blockading, six for retailing and concealing illicit liquors. The most notable criminal case of the whole term is that against Taylor Ritter and his two sons charged with persistent blockading. The bills against these men were filed way back in 1908, but they were never arrested until four months ago owing to their success in evading the officers every time they made a raid in their neighborhood for the purpose of arresting them. This week is to be devoted entirely to criminal cases and then next week there is to be taken up the trial of the famous damage suit of Ware-Kramer Company, Norfolk, vs. American Tobacco Co. for $1,500,000 damages for the destruction of the business of the Ware-Kramer Company as cigarette manufacturers. It is expected that this trial will require a month or longer to reach a conclusion.

Chairman Franklin McNeill, of the Corporation Commission, and Attorney General T. W. Bickett will leave tomorrow for Washington to be present at the hearing before the new Commerce Court in the appeal of the Norfolk & Western, Seaboard Air Line and Southern railway companies have taken from the ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission that the Norfolk & Western must make material reduction in freight rates from Cincinnati, points west and Virginia cities to North Carolina terminals of the N. & W., Winston-Salem and Durham. The hearing will be on Wednesday of this week and is in the form of an application for an injunction from the Commerce Court against putting into effect the order of the Interstate Commission.

Large blue prints, 7x4 1-2 feet of the Cherokee country of Western North Carolina have just been received in the office of the secretary of state in compliance with the provisions of a special act of the recent legislature. They are splendid reproductions of the old Cherokee country map made in 1837, by R. Deaver, engineer. The original and only copy was in the office of the secretary of state terribly faded and in danger of early disintegration. The redrafting was done by C. A. Speas and W. N. Brown, students at the A. & M. College. Those in position to criticise the work pronounce it very good. The territory involved is the present Cherokee and Jackson counties and portions of some of the adjacent counties.

The certificate of organization of the Appalachain Highway Company, that promises to develop an especially important highway in the mountains of Western Carolina, is just filed with the secretary of state and shows organization with Joseph Hyde Pratt as chairman and C. P. Ambler, G. L. McKay and J. L. Patterson as the other directors. The charter for the corporation was granted by the last legislature.

Charters are issued for the Warlick & Sherrill Co., Granite Falls, capital $100,000 authorized and $2,500 subscribed for making picker sticks and furniture of various kinds. D. H. Warlick being principal incorporator. Another charter is for the Tar River Hosiery Mills (Inc.), Washington, N. C., capital $125,000 by J. T. Lewis, F. W. Ayers and others.

Observant people who have traveled into the surrounding country the past few days say there was never a finer stand of cotton plants than now and that the plants are developing very nicely, but threatened to be retarded by increasing drought. In fact this is proving to be one of the very dryest Mays ever known in this section.

From the Southeastern section of the county, where the most extensive tobacco raising is done there comes the news that the increase in the tobacco acreage is probably 25 per cent with the prospect good for a good yield. At least the cultivation is being carried on much more thoroughly than ever before. This applies to all crops, in fact, the general verdict being that farms throughout this section are being cultivated far more thoroughly and scientifically than ever before. This is due to a general awakening of the farmers to the importance of better methods through the efforts, especially, of the State Department of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture that are co-operationg to a large extent in this kind of work.

The survey has just been made for the extension of the Raleigh street railway out to the splendid new country club south of the city and it is authoritatively stated that this important extension will be made forthwith. The country club building and grounds will be ready for the opening to take place in the early fall.

It is learned that delay in the erection of the proposed new Hotel Bland for Raleigh, to be erected by Jones & Bailey at the corner of Martin and Salisbury is because the promoters of the enterprise have decided to have fireproof construction and this has necessitated a change of the plans. As soon as these are redrafted to be adopted to the fireproof construction, the contract is to be awarded promptly and the work pressed forward.

Communications

Secretary McLean Makes Suggestion.

As there will be hundreds of traveling men guests of our city June the 2d and 3d, the occasion being the annual Convention of the Grand Council of the U. C. Ts. of North and South Carolina, would it not be a splendid advertisement for Greensboro merchants to decorate their windows and store fronts with the U. C. T. colors. The traveling men are great boosters, and anything done by our citizens to show our appreciation of their meeting here will be more than repaid by many kind words spoken by these men about our city.

Very respectfully,
C. C. M'LEAN,
Secretary.

Commissioner Foushee Warns People Against Wasting Water.

I desire to call attention of the citizens of Greensboro to the fact that the supply of water of the city will not permit the use of the same in the manner used on last Saturday and Sunday and the Saturday and Sunday previous. Your pumps have been going steadily and reserve turned on and yesterday and the day before, we were unable to keep up the supply, and up to 10 o'clock this morning (Monday morning) we have not gained anything at all.

As your Commissioner of Public Works, it is by duty to call your attention to this matter and also to certain abuses which are in violation of the ordinances of the City. I do this before taking any action in the matter, as I believe that the users of the city water need only to have their attention called to this matter in order to rectify the same.

Section 357 of the City Ordinances reads as follows: "That water will not be allowed for sprinkling streets, yards, lawns, or gardens for a longer time than two hours per day. No sprinkling will be allowed in front of houses where license is not granted to occupants, thereof."

Sec. 343. "Street and yard sprinklers cannot be converted into hydrants, jets or fountains, or be allowed to run to waste in gutters of the streets or upon lawns or in yards, but must be kept closed except when used for sprinkling as intended."

Sec. 344. "That no hose is allowed to be used without a nozzle and a nozzle more than one-forth of an inch in diameter."

Sec. 345. "That no hose or fountain shall be run in time of fire."

Sec. 347. "Hydrants, taps, hose, baths or other fixtures whatever, will not be permitted to be kept running when not in actual use."

Sec. 349. "Any water consumer who shall permit others to use his fixtures for any purpose not set forth in his contract will have service cut off at once."

Sec. 356 gives the power to put in meters wherever and whenever in the judgment of the Commission they should be attached.

Sec. 359 a. "Any person, firm, or corporation violating or failing to keep and observe any of the provisions of this chapter, shall be subject to a penalty of ten dollars, except where otherwise provided in this chapter."

I know you will pardon me for calling your attention to this matter, and I feel that you will co-operate with me in seeing that the abuses in the use of our city water and the violations of our ordinances which have been going on for the past few weeks are stopped. I am frank to say that I shall have to put on meters where I see these violations continued and invoke the penalties; however, as I have said I believe all that will be necessary is to have the attention of the public called to these ordinances, for in the event of fire we would have felt its effect in the pressure of our water.

Very truly yours,
J. G. Foushee, Jr.,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Naomi Mills Ordered Resold.

In United States court yesterday Judge Boyd ordered the Naomi Manufacturing Company's plant, now in the bankruptcy court, resold, a bid of 10 per cent. having been made over the price brought at the sale several days ago.

Washington, May 22.—Another Democratic Richmond is in the field, at least his friends are putting him in. It is no less than Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme court. Chief Justice White is in no sense a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, but there is no little quiet talk about the splendid qualifications of the noted Jurist for the highest election office in the world.

The idea is that, with so many first class candidates for the nomination and the fact that it requires two-thirds of the delegates to nominate,makes a deadlock in the convention not only possible but probable.

If there should be a deadlock, say Justice White's friends, where can a man more suitable be found to break it?

Talking about the Democratic nomination some of the partisans of Speaker Champ Clark are real vexed that he does not take a more active personal interest in the race. Mr. Clark makes no secret of the fact that he is perfectly willing to respond with alacrity even to a call from his party but he will not get out and hustle for the nomination. He will not organize his friends, spurns the idea of a publicity bureau and beyond attending to his business as speaker will do nothing to attract attention to himself.

Washington generally believes that Mr. Clark will cut a big figure in the convention and that the man who beats him will get the nomination.

A temperance campaign which will be watched with interest has just been inaugurated by the War Department.

Bootlegging has been a very profitable business on the army transports carrying troops to and from the Philippines ever since we took those islands from Spain. This illicit sale of liquor has not only been a source of great profit to a ring in the stewards department but has given the officers in command of the troops no little trouble. It is said that sometimes the profits on a single voyage would be nearly $1,000.

The quartermaster's department has at last decided that the business must cease and secret service men have been put to work to ferret out the boot leggers who will be punished to the limit of the law when found.

The question of changing the date of the inauguration of Presidents is again to the fore, this time with the backing of Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the committee on rules.

Mr. Henry is confident that the resolution changing the date from March to April, and incidentally adding a month to the life of Congress will be passed this time.

Very interesting ceremonies will mark the unveiling of the L. Enfant monument at Arlington on Monday.

President Taft, Cardinal Gibbons, Ambassador Jusserand of France and Senator Elihu Root will be the participants in the ceremonies. The only additional participant will be Miss Elanor Carroll Morgan, great-grand-daughter of William Dudley Digges, friend of L'Enfant, and on whose farm in Maryland the body of the distinguished Frenchman was interred before being removed to Arlington. Miss Morgan will unveil the statue.

The memorial is located in front of the mansion, with a carved map of Washington placed according to the compass.

According to the program arranged for the unveiling, Cardinal Gibbons will pronounce both the invocation and benediction. Patriotic music will form a part of the program.

The farmers ought to feel swelled up with the eloquence that has been bubbling in their behalf since this Congress began business, remarked Gerald Stanley Lee, a real farmer from the Minnesota region.

"When I reach Washington, my favorite recreation is the reading of the Congressional Record, and sometimes I hear the speeches from the gallery. Somehow, I did not quite realize that the so-called poor farmer needed so much sympathy and attention from the statesman here in Washington."

Out my way the farmer rides to town in a fine automobile, and is ever warmly greeted by the banker and the village potentates. His daughters go to Europe, and there is nothing lacking for the so-called poor farmer, except flying machines, and he will have them soon enough. But we hear your congressmen almost beg for the farmer as if he was in distress. I note that Feriss, of Oklahoma, for instance, said in a recent speech, "Pass this bill and release the farmer from bondage," and almost every orator in the debate had much to say about the poor farmer, the thrifty, hard-working farmer, the sturdy farmer at an humble fireside. It was inspiring, too, that Underwood, the Democratic House leader, begged for the poor farmer, who is contendinbg for free lumber with which to build his humble home! Out our way the humble home business is a back number. We don't find many humble homes among the real farmer. The farm hand may have the humble home part of it, but not the farmer who owns the land."

"Once in a great while some citizen will bring to light one of the old greenbacks," says Stephen Fresno, of Nebraska, "and such a bill attracts attention over the counter either of a bank or a grocery store.

"The part of the bill that comes in for most study and inspection is the autograph of Francis E. Spinner, who was the treasurer of the United States from Lincoln's time until after Grant's and Hayes. It is not generally recalled that Spinner served three terms in congress from an upper New York district—and gave special attention to financial matters. He was very proud of his peculiar and striking signature, and had an odd way of writing it for autograph hunters who called on him at the Treasury. He made a lot of superfluous dashes of ink without actually writing, and then filled in, the idea being to make counterfeiting impossible.

"Not only was Spinner proud of this signature, but he had a great pride in his official management of the Treasury, and when he resigned insisted that there should be a special investigation of his accounts. As he handled millions and millions in the many years of his tenure, as treasurer the task was not easy, and when it was ended there was found a shortage of exactly I cent.

"This gave Spinner great worry, and he insisted that the accounts be gone over again and that the shortage would be rectified. This was done, and, sure enough, the expert accountants found that they had blundered just 1 cent to the bad, and they hastened to make an apology."

How He Judged.

"I love you more than anybody in the world," she whispered, as she sat on hubby's knee, her lips close to his ear.

"Don't add hypocrisy to unfaithfulness," he responded sternly, pushing her away.

"Why, what do you mean, dear?" she asked, ready to cry.

"You care more for some other man than you do for me!" was the bitter response. "I don't know his name, but I think he is a Chinaman."

"You must have fever, dear. Do let me call a doctor." Her face was white with anxiety and the tears were falling fast as she started for the telephone.

"No. Sit down and explain—if you can. You wear a lock of my hair in your locket—just one little lock?"

"Yes."

"And the entire queue of some Chinaman on your head!"—Puck.

'Cascarets' Are Best Laxative for Women

A Ten Cent Box Keeps You Feeling Good for Months—No Headache, Indigestion, Foul Taste or Bad Breath.

All women need Cascarets. Simply because they don't exercise enough. They don't eat coarse food, or enough fruit and green vegetables. Those are nature's ways of keeping the bowels active. But very few women employ them. The next best way is Cascarets.

Nearly all the minor ills of women can be avoided by Cascarets alone. There is no need to have headache, lame backs, depression, bad breath, bad complexion. The remedy is Cascarets. Not in large doses — unless you wait too long. The best way is one Cascaret at a time—just when you need it. One every day, perhaps.

It is a simply a matter of keeping clean inside, as you do on the outside. You don't use soap in large quantities, and rarely. You use it frequently, regularly, just as you need it. Do the same with Cascarets. Then you are always well, always at your best. Keep a 10 cent box handy always.

OFFICERS WANT STRONGER ARMY

Maneuvers In Texas Said to Show Weak Condition.

SAME AFTER SPANISH WAR

Changes Were Made Then, but Little Improvement Has Been Shown—It Is Doubtful if Army Can Be Increased, but Militia Will Probably Be Strengthened In Many Ways.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 22.—(Special).—You cannot go to the war department these days without finding the officers who are settled or detailed there buzzing about strengthening the army. The movement to the Rio Grande is pointed out as a reason for making great improvements in the national defense.

After the Spanish war there was a great deal of talk about the unpreparedness of the United States for war, and it was shown by incontrovertible facts that if we had fought a stronger power the result would have been vastly different, at least in the time it took to defeat the enemy.

Then plans of making the army better were considered. The army was increased from 25,000 to about 65,000 men with skeleton organizations for 100,000 men. A general staff was created, and a war college was built. From time to time statements were made that the general staff and the war college had everything on paper for the rapid movement of troops and there would never be such another state of affairs as existed at the time of the last war.

Still Unprepared.

While the movement to Texas was not war, it was warlike, and there is the same complaint of inefficiency. It is now suggested that the general staff, the adjutant general's and inspector general's departments should be consolidated. That was what ought to have been done when the general staff was organized. It could not be done then and cannot be done now.

It is doubtful if the army can be increased, though steps may be taken to strengthen the militia. At all events it would seem that we have not progressed very far in a dozen years.

Practical Demonstration.

The Democrats of the house did not want to be put to the necessity of bringing in one of the Republican "gag rules" in order to pass a tariff bill without amendment. So they had every amendment ruled out of order or by a general agreement voted down every amendment.

"We demonstrated that we could put through a tariff bill without a rule," smilingly remarked Oscar Underwood who remained ten hours on the job, making points of order against Jim Mann's amendments as well as others coming from the Republican side.

National Chairman.

For several months there has been a suggestion that a real chairman of the Republican national committee should be selected, there being some doubt as to whether Postmaster General Hitchcock has released the job and designated as successor Governor Hill of Maine. Some Republicans claimed that a Mark Hanna should be found to reorganize the Republican party. That idea seems to have been abandoned.

In the first place there are mighty few Mark Hannas, and in the second place the Mark Hanna methods of running politics are not altogether popular in the country. So it has been decided to allow the matter to remain just where it is. The committee will meet in Washington next December to choose a place and select a date for the next national convention. That will be time enough to do anything about a chairman. More than that, the manager of the campaign will be selected by the Republican nominee for president.

Good Farming Land.

One good thing which the hearings before the finance committee are bringing out is the fact that there are millions of acres of good farming lands yet undeveloped in the United States. There has been much alarm over the fear that the farm lands in this country were about exhausted. Ex-Governor Palmer of Michigan told the committee that there were millions of acres of good tillable lands in his state. He also said the same was true of Mississippi and many other southern states of which he had knowledge.

Southern men have always claimed that there were still great opportunities for farmers in the south. The impression that only the arid lands of the west were all that could be utilized for farming in the future has been proved erroneous.

Idaho In the Limelight.

As in the last session, Idaho continues in the limelight. By reason of having charge of the election of senators resolution Borah is frequently in evidence. Then Heyburn, by reason of his opposition to that resolution, is equally prominent. But Heyburn opposes many other things which bring him before the senate and the people. He is now a member of the finance committee and opponent of reciprocity, which is bound to afford an opportunity for more or less distinction.

THEATERS AND PLAYERS DISCUSSED BY TELEGRAM'S NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT

(JAMES GRANT THURSTON.)
Special to Telegram.

New York, May 22.—The Assembly has passed W. R. Herrick's bill making it unlawful to exclude persons wearing the United States uniform from privileges furnished by innkeepers, common carriers, theatres and other places of amusement. The bill is the result of the many cases of turn down which United States soldiers and sailors have suffered at places of amusement. Theatrical men claim that their tickets of admission are licensed revokable at will and that they may bar out a man even for the simple reason that they do not like his necktie. They contend that they are not in the same category as hotelkeepers or public service corporations which are bound to receive all who offer to pay for services.

The marriage of Margaret Anglin the famous actress to Howard Hull, a Louisville man is of more than ordinary interest. This gifted woman is the daughter of Thomas Anglin, long speaker in the Canadian House of Parliament and practical ruler of the dominion. The couple are in Europe by this time.

Miss Anglin, who is now 35 years old, is a Canadian by birth. She came to New York while still a young girl and studied at a school of acting. Her professional debut was made under Charles Frohman's management in "Shenandoah," in 1894, subsequently she understudied Virginia Harned. Her first hit here was in "Cyrano de Bergerac" when she became leading woman of the Empire Stock Company, where her greater success was scored in "Mrs. Dane's Defence."

Her summers during the years that she was at the Empire were spent in San Francisco as leading woman of Henry Miller's Stock Company. Subsequently she and Mr. Miller became partners and co-stars and the fine business acumen which she displayed made a great deal of money for both of them.

It was Miss Anglin who discovered the late William Vaughn Moody as a dramatist.

Mr. and Mrs. Hull sailed on the Kronprinz Wilhelm for a honeymoon abroad, and before embarking the bride announced that she had no intention of quitting her theatrical career. She would return before fall to fulfill a contract with Liebler & Co., under whose management she is to play next season.

Mr. Hull recently has been appearing with Miss Anglin in "Great Stockings." Ten days ago the company closed, and Miss Anglin and Mr. Hull came to New York to prepare for their wedding. The engagement of the actress to Mr. Hull has been rumored for a long time. It was first suspected when they were playing in the production of "Antigone" in California, However, when occasion demanded it, both Miss Anglin and Mr. Hull denied that they were engaged.

During the evening of the two recent performances of "Madame Sherry" in Bangor, Woods, Lederer & Frazee, telegraphed the manager of the company to turn over the company's share of the recipts—$1,800—to the city for the relief of the fire sufferers. To Herman's amazement he received a letter stating that the Mayor of Bangor had declined the contribution on the grounds that Banger's citizens were all prosperous and could take care of their own.

After a long tour, David Warfield, at Detroit, said farewell for the season to "The Return of Peter Grimm." He is to begin an all summer's rest.

Were it not for the enormous receipts piled up everywhere by Warfield in "The Music Master," his tour in "Peter Grimm" might be referred to as a record breaker.

Among the other important attraction to fold up their tents for the season are: Raymond Hitchcock in "The Man Who Owns Broadway" and "Ben-Hur." Both of these attractions—"Ben-Hur" now having completed its eleventh season—have consistenly gladdened the hearts of their owners since early in the fall.

William H. Crane who recently sailed for Europe will probably appear next season as Cy Whittaker, one of Joseph Lincoln's Down East characters.

Three years ago Gustave Frohman induced the Rev. William Danforth to engage in playing. Mr. Danforth's first play was called the "Gate of Eden." Mr. Frohman introduced Mr. Danforth and Mr. Crane with the suggestion that the clergyman might deliver the piece Mr. Crane wanted. Later when Mr. Danforth suggested writing a play on Mr. Lincoln's Down East characters, Frohman urged upon Mr. Crane the advantages of acting Cy Whittaker. He consulted Mr. Lincoln, and asked him to collaborate with Mr. Danforth upon a dramatization of "Cy Whittaker's Place." Next season Mr. Crane will give a stage representatiion of Cy Whittaker, a character like David Harum, in essentials.

To add to the realism and general effect for "Old Timers' Week" at the Fifth Avenue Theater the management placed in the lobby one of the very oldest of the Benjamin Franklin hand-feed printing presses. Great crowds swarmed the lobby watching the press at work printing a program. The press was secured in Philadelphia and is typical of the very first press used.

David Marion and his wife well known stage folks are on a four-weeks tour through Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and in the wooded country along the Great Lakes.

The automobiel is virtually a cottage on wheels. One of the features of the tonnau is a place for folding cots. Beneath the floor is plenty of space for tents, cooking utensils and other necessary articles for cross county trips.

What will be one of the largest open air theaters in the city is being built at Amsterdam and St. Nicholas avenues by Lincoln Simins. The place has a frontage of 150 feet on Amsterdam and 250 feet on St. Nicholas.

The power of Police Department to issue theater licenses is limited by Senator Sullivan's bill, passed by the Assembly and sent to the Governor.

The bill prevents summary refusal to grant a license without a proper hearing Before the license is refused the applicant shall be entitled to a hearing.

Isabel Bateman, a one-time favorite actress, but for the last thirteen years a devout Catholic nun is appealing from her convent for $25,000, which she needs for the purpose of endowing a home for fallen girls.

Isabel Bateman has been so long away from the footlights that the younger generation has grown up without having heard of her, but old play-goers remember her successful stage career.

She belonged to a famous American theatrical family. Her father H. L. Bateman, was an American actor-manager who had four clever daughters.

A new theatrical agency announces its purpose to supply managers with artists, acting for out of town managers and transacting matters of business for professionals.

A list of theaters available for stock will be kept on hand; a publicity department will be maintained. A feature will be the legal department in charge of a well known theatrical attorney.

Mr. E. F. Albee holds an option on the Victoria Theater which he can close any time within a year for the total price of $1,250,000. It is one of the Hammerstein theaters.

Ellen Terry, who recently left this country with her valise filled with American money made by her lectures on the drama has this to say about "Dear America:"

"In America I found that, with few exceptions, they do not produce their plays with such loving care as we do. Some, however, are beautiful—especially those by Mr. Belasco. One of the most striking plays I ever saw in America was "The Concert."

Story Got the Near-Sighted Man.

"While I think I am rather inclined to give, yet I try to be discriminating, not to give to every beggar with an idle and obviously untrue tale, but," said the near-sighted man, "I fell impulsively for a story new to me this morning.

"'Boss,' said the man as he looked at me, 'I've lost my spectacles and I'm trying to get together enough money to buy another pair.'

"You know if I should lose my spectacles I should be lost myself and on that story I gave up without another thought."

No, Maude, dear, we have never heard that swallowing a needle would give one a stitch in the side.

HOW WEAK WOMEN

May Be Made Strong at Small Expense And no Risk.

There are hundreds of women in this vicinity, weak, thin, run-down, tierd out and nervous. Such women need Vinol just as much as did Mrs. Jane Pepper, of 2307 Howard street, San Francisco, Cal., who says:

"I have used Vinol for some time with particularly gratifying results. I was run-down, weak and debilitated, and my appetite was gone. After taking several bottles of Vinol I found my condition greatly improved, and do not hesitate to recommend Vinol to anyone similarly affected." (We guarantee this testimony to be genuine.)

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, but a delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Farriss-Klutz drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH YOU?

Think over your condition and see ifyou have any of the following symptoms:

Is your tongue coated in the morning?

Do you have a furred, rough taste in the mouth?

When you stoop over and rise quickly do you feel a sudden pain in the back?

Do you see spots before your eyes after quick rising?

Do you have a hot, heavy feeling at the base of the brain?

Are your feet and hands cold and clammy?

These are all SURE symptoms that your Kidneys are affected.

If you have ANY ONE of the above described feelings you are neglecting your general health if you do not pay particular attention to the warnings which "Mother Nature" has given you.

The great specialist, Dr. Daniel G. Carey, has stated, "Over Ninety per cent. of the cause of all chronic disease arises from a disordered condition of the Kidneys." Nature, in her wonderful work, has provided these important organs for a specific purpose—to filter and cast out all impurities from the blood. If the Kidneys do not perform their work, the blood becomes impure and impregnated with diseased matter which clogs up and over-flows; this "overflow" is absorbed into the Stomach, bladder, Lungs and all of the vital organs, they become weakened in their action and result in a complication of diseases from which the patient is bound to suffer.

Dr. Carey's MARSH ROOT will rectify all of these troubles and will give you a new lease on life.

MARSH ROOT is one of the prescriptions used by Dr. Carey in his private practice for over twenty-five years.

MARSH ROOT is a combination of ROOTS and HERBS compounded in a scientific manner, to produce a natural result by natural means. MARSH ROOT removes the EFFECT of disease by going direct to the CAUSE.

I was a sufferer from Kidney and bladder trouble, and was so bad that I had given up all hope. I was induced to try a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marsh Root. To my surprise and satisfaction, I at once could see a change in my condition. I continued to use the valuable remedy, and can now say that I am entirely cured. I am seventy-one years old and comparatively a well man, and cannot say too much for Dr. Carey's Marsh Root Kidney and Bladder Cure. I can now sleep all night and rest well. Before I commenced taking Dr. Carey's Marsh Root, I was compelled to urinateseveral times during my sleeping hours, thanks to your remedy (Signed,) A. B. ROYSE

SWIFT POSTMEN OF VENICE

They Are Clever in Dodging the Canals and Know Every Street in City.

Probably the letter carriers of Venice are the most ingenious in the world. They know how to dodge every waterway, turning up on their routes with a precise regularity that convinces you they have mapped every scrap of the damp city's dry land on their brains. If you go to your destination by gondola they can beat you thereto by a good bit of time. What they know about canals has been applied by them to navigation on land and they know every tiny street in the city.

Of course, there are postoffice gondolas, too, gay yellow things that quite outcolor the yellow sunlight, and any day you happen over the bridge of the Rialto you will see them fastened to their red-and-gold poles just underneath the old palatial Fondaco del Tedeschi, which, centuries ago, by decree of the Venetian senate, two famous architects of early days, Girolamo Tedesco and Giorgio Spavento, built for the use of the many German merchants then living in Venice (somewhere about the year 1505).—Travel Magazine.

Were Not on His List.

The late Rev. Horatio Stebbins of San Francisco was a man of large mind and noble powers, but more familiar with the world of intellectual and scholastic interests than with trivial and timely things.

His household was blessed with a charming daughter, who grew up tall and beautiful, commanding the admiration of all who saw her. One day a visitor said to the good doctor: "Doctor, your daughter grows more charming day by day. Why, she's a regular Gibson girl."

"Ah, thank you, thank you," replied the doctor in his best manner. When the visitor had gone, turning to his wife the doctor asked: "My dear, who are the Gibsons?"—Cleveland Leader.

COST OF LIVING UNDER INQUIRY

Congressional Committee Making Investigation.

BLAME FOR THE RETAILER.

Evidence Shows That There Is a Large Difference Between the Price Paid to the Producer and That Paid by the Consumer—This Is True of Imported Articles Also.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 22.—(Special).—During the debate on the tariff law two years ago there was much talk about the cost of living and more particularly the cost of articles to the consumer compared to the manufacturers' prices. Men blamed the middleman, the retailer, the carrier—in fact, every person handling goods and merchandise was the cause, according to different theories advanced.

The hearings on the Canadian reciprocity agreement occasionally bring out facts which show that there is a great difference between the price paid to the producer and that paid by the consumer. Actual farmers showed, for instance, that they received a very small sum for their products, while the consumer paid good prices.

One man said he sold lettuce and celery at 1½ cents a bunch or head and the same retailed at 10 and 15 cents per head or bunch. Others told about the low prices they received on other articles of farm produce and showed that high prices were paid by the consumers.

What Is the Remedy?

While these facts are known and have been known, while they are discussed and lamented, no one seems to have been able to suggest a remedy The truck farmer cannot go to town and sell his produce. He has to sell it and ship it where there is a demand, and he must accept the price which is offered. Not only is this true in regard to farm produce, but it is the fact in regard to every other article sold on a small scale.

It was during the tariff debate that Senator Smoot held up a razor which abroad cost 50 cents, upon which the duty was 15 or 20 cents and which was sold in the retail stores at $3. Congressman Gaines showed during the same debate that a common handkerchief for which 25 cents was paid cost but a few cents even with the duty. Such examples were numerous, and we will have many of them when the senate begins to debate the different tariff bills. But what are the consumers going to do about it?

"Second In Command."

See what long and continuous service will do. Senator Warren is chairman of the powerful committee on appropriations, and he is second on the following committees: Agriculture and forestry, military affairs, public buildings and grounds, rules, irrigation and reclamation of arid lands and expenditures in the department of state. All but the latter are good committees.

Agriculture and military affairs each handles appropriation bills. Warren as "second in command" will be on every conference committee of any importance on bills handled by the different committees.

Doing Business In Their Own Way.

Although the Democrats who are now managing affairs of the house have never had much experience in "running things," they are doing business in their own way. Leader Mann and former Speaker Cannon protest that the Democrats exclude "calendar Wednesday" and "discharge Monday," two new days which the insurgents and Democrats forced into the rules during the last congress, but the majority without any display of shame go ahead and dispense with those days in a calm, routine manner, which indicates that they are willing to take all the responsibility of the situation.

Why Son Goes to the City.

That old problem of why the son of the farmer leaves the farm and goes to the city was discussed in the tariff hearings. Senator Clark of Wyoming asked a question to show that the farmer boy went to the city as much for the "city atmosphere," amusements and the like as for pecuniary gain. J. W. Hutchins of Michigan, who was before the committee, asserted that it was both pecuniary gain and because of the pleasures the city afforded that the young men went to the cities from the farms.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota wanted to bring out that if the farm life could be made just as profitable it would be just as agreeable and people could have time for city amusements.

Then it was that Senator Williams of Mississippi came in with a solid chunk of fact: "No matter how profitable we make the work on the farm—I am a countryman and live twelve and one-half miles from the telegraph and express office—we cannot give our boys moving picture shows and casinos."

And the problem of how to keep the son on the farm was not settled. It was not pursued very far, because the less important question of a few cents difference on this or that article as produced in the United States and Canada soon absorbed the committee, and the greater question was allowed to drop.

SOCIETY NOTES FROM THE NATION'S CAPITAL

Special to Telegram.

(By CONSTANCE CARRUTHERS.)

Washington, May 21.—The President of the United States is a busy man, especially when Congress is in session, but President Taft recognizes that he owes social duties as well as political and like the conscientious gentleman he finds time to perform the one as well as the other.

In fact the social side of the White House has been kept up to the highest traditions under the Taft regime, despite the fact that Mrs. Taft has not been in the best of health. Miss Helen Taft has been an invaluable aid to the social side of the family.

Not only has Mr. Taft taken time to grace the horse show, to entertain visiting delegations of noted women, and to preside at the formal dinners which are a recognized part of the presidential duties, but he has on occasions attended the White House garden parties which have been a marked feature of the Washington Spring season, and has more than once given informal dinners, which were very enjoyable.

As a matter of fact Mr. Taft enjoys society and social doings with a wholehearted enjoyment, which makes him a most desirable host or guest, outside his official position and is not above breaking through the rules of etiquette which of recent years have grown up about the Presidential office, hedging in the executive almost as strongly and strictly as though he was head of a monarchy rather than of a republic.

The first of the White House garden parties was held during May week. It will be remembered that while every First Lady of the Land has had an especial place in her heart for the White House garden it is only in the last few years that they have frequently been used for entertaining. Mrs. McKinley entertained on the south portico, but her ill health prevented her using the gardens very often. During President Harrison's terms his wife and daughter gave one charming garden party on the lawns of the White House. Mrs. Roosevelt, during the latter part of her residence in the White House, inaugurated a series of garden parties every spring. Mrs. Taft invited the Mozart Club to sing at her first party and it was a delightful innovation. An interesting feature of the party was the first official appearance there of Mrs. Walter Fisher, wife of the new Secretary of the Interior, who had been detained in Chicago by the illness of one of her children.

There is a constant round of entertainments at Washington at this season. Here are some of them of unusual interest.

Mrs. E. H. Brooks entertained at a luncheon at the Chevy Chase Club in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Wilcox, of Portland, Ore., who are spending a few days in Washington.

Mrs. Steenerson, wife of Representative Steenerson, of Crookston, Minn., was hostess at a luncheon at the Cairo.

Miss Laura Merriam was hostess at a luncheon at the Chevy Chase Club in compliment to Miss Louise Cromwell whose marriage to Walter Brooks of Baltimore is to take place. Miss Merriam was one of Miss Cromwell's attendants.

Miss Gladys Hinckley, who also was one of the bridal party entertained at dinner for Miss Cromwell and Mr. and Mrs. Taft entertained at dinner at the Chevy Chase Club for Miss Cromwell.

Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock entertained at a dinner of fourteen covers at the Chevy Chase Club, in honor of Miss Helen Taft.

The announcement that Mrs. E. B. Elkins and Miss Katherine Elkins are to sail for Europe next week for a long sojourn abroad has renewed gossip about the possibility of a renewal of the Elkins-Abruzzi engagement. The death of Senator Elkins, it is said, in some quarters has removed one of the obstacles to the marriage of the West Virginia heiress to the Italian prince, the status of the bride's family at the Italian court.

The best impression, however, is that the match is definitely off and that the young people will not meet during the Elkins present trip abroad.

Miss Margaret Preston Draper is to enjoy a social distinction this summer when she will be presented at court in London. Miss Draper, who is the daughter of the late Gen. William F. Draper, former American Ambassador to Italy, is now in that country with her mother, having gone to Europe shortly after her father's death.

Miss Draper has experienced a brilliant social career, which began when she was a tot, with wonderful baby parties given in the big home of the Drapers. She made her debut here two years ago at what was conceded the most lavish and picturesque ball for young people in the memory of Washington society. Just after her debut her father became ill and died at the home here. Miss Draper is wealthy.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lees have gone to San Franscisco, Cal., where Mr. Lees is to spend a couple of months as assistant at the forestry station located in that city. Mrs. Lees will visit with relatives at Los Angeles, Whittier, Oakland and other points while they are on the Pacific coast.

Miss Harriet Wadsworth, of Washington, has left for New Orleans, where she will be the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. LeBourgeois, going with them later to their summer home at Pass Christian.

Miss Lillian Hill, of Montgomery, Ala., has gone to Richmond, Va., where she will be the guest of Miss Geline MacDonald for several days. Miss Hill, who has been visiting Miss Alice Hoover and Miss Louise Hoover at their home will return to Washington this week for a brief stay, before leaving for her home in the South.

Mrs. John B. Gordon, widow of General Gordon, en route from her old home in Atlanta, Ga., to the northen home of her daughter, spent a part of the week here with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Frank Gordon, and grandson, Mr. Kilbourn Gordon. She is now in New York.

Mrs. Jonathan Bourne left the city recently for a vacation of several weeks in the country, after which she will return to this city and join the senator until the close of the extra session of Congress.

Miss Anderson, aunt to Senator Poindexter and sister to former attorney General Anderson, of Virginia, who has been a guest of Miss Bettie J. Harris for several weeks, has returned to her home in Richmond.

Mrs. Lewis W. Burton, wife of Bishop Burton, of Lexington, Ky., has arrived to be the guest of her daughter, Miss Cornelia Burton, who is visiting relatives here for the season.

Mrs. R. G. Richard, of Mobile, Alabama, spent a few days in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Schiffman.

Unexpected Guests

The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table—sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

What Mother Goose Missed.

Mother Goose was in a high state of indignation.

"A young chap was in here just now," she said, "asking if he might use some selections from my poems in an 'anthology' he was getting out, and I took the broomstick to him! When I'm ready to have my poems printed in a book I'll get it out myself, same as they do in Indiana!"

Still under emotional stress, she sat down and dashed off that immortal lyric beginning, "Sing a song of sixpence. Pocket full o' rye!"

PATRIOTS POUNDED SPHERE ALL OVER LOT YESTERDAY

And Won From Charlotte Four to Two—Hit Hornet Twirler For Twenty-Eighth Bases— Wallace Pitched Fair Ball—Same Teams Play Today.

Greensboro fans had heard so much of the Hornets and their allaged capacity for stinging, that it was with some trepidation they went out to Cone park yesterday afternoon, but after getting out and watching a few innings they found the bunch from Charlotte headed by Lave Cross absolutely stingless, and the seasoned Patriots found them so easy that they piled up 15 hits for a total of 25 bases and won by a score of 11 to 5.

The Hornets appear to be like the common domestic bee in that their stings are now gone and they have developed into drones. Certain it is that yesterday afternoon they put up a lifeless sort of game. The Patriots play hard when necessary, but yesterday the Hornets played listlessly that it put somewhat of the same spirit into the Gate City team—that is, in everything except hitting. Doyle's men landed on the sphere "all-right," all-right"—especially Clapp, who found Sheesley so easy that he was almost ashamed to go to the bat toward the last. It savored of "taking candy from the children," or "pushing biddies in the branch." Out of five times at the bat he came off with a triple, two doubles and a single, or a total of 8 bases.

Sheesley, who was hailed as a great find, and put forward as a man who "would go breaking through this league," was found easy and was batted almost at will by the locals. Wallace was on the mound for Greensboro and was rather unsteady. But for his bases on balls the runs of the visitors would have been less. He kept the hits scattered, but the fans were uneasy until Greensboro had gotten a big lead. Four of the eight hits he allowed were for two bases, and the first man up in the first and second innings he walked, and each scored. In the fifth he walked three men, one of them when the bases were full and forced in a run.

The game was fairly well attended and was featured by the heavy batting of the locals and a pretty double play by Doyle and Carroll in the third inning.

The same teams will play again at Cone Park today at 4:30 p. m.

DIAMOND DUST

DIAMOND. ..* ..* ..*.....

About the easiest bunch we have found.

And this afternoon the dose will be repeated.

To recall all that the Charlotte fans have said makes it all the more amusing.

Ladies and gentlemen, we have the pleasure of introducing Mr. Sheesley, the man who is to go "breaking through this league."

Wallace did pretty well for a man who had read in the newspapers that he had been released.

Carroll gets better all the time. He put a double and a single to his credit yesterday.

The Hornets and Patriots will again Cross bats at Cone Park this afternoon at 4:30.

It sounds rather boastful for so early in the season, but we haven't seen any team in the league that's in our class.

Swindell got his revenge on Greenville and Cashion yesterday, but it wasn't a shut out.

The big score against the Hornets reminds one of the scores of the first few games of the season.

Togo Bentley was also in a batting humor yesterday.

It will be a long while before there will be so many drives, which were so hard to say whether they were hits or errors.

Charlotte will have still another "discovery" in the way of pitchers to spring on a waiting populace in the next few days.

14 INNING GAME LEAVES TIE UNBROKEN

Spartanburg, S. C., May 22.—Darkness ended the game this afternoon at the end of the 14th inning with the score 4 to 4. Spartanburg used three pitchers, Ferrell, the first, was ineffective and the other two worked well. A batter was substituted for Vickery in the ninth so the third twirler was necessary. Spartanburg's first three runs were the result of three four-baggers with no one on. Coombs was good all the way through.

GREENVILLE LOSES ON ERROR IN EIGHTH

Greenville, May 22.—One error in the eighth inning let in three runs for Winston and won the game 5 to 3 from the locals. Swindell was wild and remained in the box only two innings, one score being made off him by a single, two wild pitches and a passed ball. In the eighth two men walked with two outs. A following single to right was errored and three men scored. Game was protested in the first by Manager Clancy of the Twins because a man who scored on a wild throw to first was called back to second.

THREE MINISTERS GRANTED LICENSE

An adjourned meeting of Orange Presbytery was held yesterday in the First Presbyterian Church for the purpose of examining three candidates for license to enter the ministry.

Each of the applicants, Geo. W. Lee, N. R. Claytor, and C. H. Phipps, presented strong trial sermons and after helpful criticisms and suggestions from experienced members of the Presbytery, licenses were unanimously voted for each of the young ministers. The Presbytery adjourned to meet at Milton on June 1.
